Juan clean-up may stop when county funds gone

BY DENA BISNETTE

If disaster funding is not obtained, the county may have to halt its efforts to clean up and repair the damage from Hurricane Juan as early as today.

According to Board of Supervisors President A.A. Kellar, costs of the clean-up are being paid for with interest from the county's general fund account.

That interest totals $25,000 and is plan to compile their costs sometime late Wednesday, Perniciaro said.

He said he expects to find that about half the interest money has already been spent.

The board and County Engineer Larry Seal met with Federal Highway Administration Area Engineer James Willis and Congressman Trent Lott's Field Representative Mercer Miller late Wednesday to discuss the problem.

Willis said he could provide no information on possible funding for the repair of the part of Beach Road on the Federal-Urban Road System at that time.

He said he planned to inspect that section of the road, which extends on Beach Boulevard from Washington Street to the Jourdan River, with Seal and representatives of the board.

Miller said disaster aid can not be obtained until Governor William Allain requests and receives a disaster declaration from President Ronald Reagan.

Allain visited the Gulf Coast this week, but as of Wednesday afternoon had not requested that Hancock County be declared a disaster area.

The board is also still awaiting an answer on funding from the Federal Emergency Management Agency, which was requested last week.

Waveland approves ordinances against vendors, trailers

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Board of Aldermen has approved ordinances that will restrict street vendors to selling locally produced food products and will prohibit additional trailers in Shoreline Park.

The vendor ordinance was approved after numerous complaints dealing with vendors selling furniture, clothing and other products on major streets, particularly US-90.

The ordinance does not apply to sales of produce or seafood by local residents.

Dairy, poultry, orchard or farm products may be sold if they are raised or grown in Hancock County by the vendor or his immediate household.

Seafood must be caught by the vendor or his immediate household to be exempt from the ordinance.

Violators will face a fine of up to $500 or up to 30 days in jail or both.

The board also approved a recommendation by the planning and zoning board for an ordinance prohibiting additional trailers in the part of Shoreline Park Subdivision inside the Waveland city limits.

The ordinance revokes a special district status given to the subdivision in 1978 that exempted Shoreline park from Waveland's trailer ordinance, which allows no trailers except in approved trailer parks.

It does not apply to existing trailers, but will prevent new trailers from coming into the area.

Both ordinances must be advertised for 30 days before becoming effective.

In other business, engineer Ray Eaton of Lewis-Eaton Partnership, the city's engineering firm, addressed the board on water, sewerage and streets.

Eaton said about $24,000 is left from a federally-funded water system project and requested the board's proposals on areas where that money could be spent.

The board authorized Eaton to draw up specifications for water line improvements on Farrar Street, Vacation Lane and some adjacent areas still served by two-inch pipe.

In addition, Eaton reported on the progress of a Waveland application for a Community Development Block Grant for street improvements.

Mayor John Longo Jr. said the board expects word on approval of the grant sometime next week.

Other street work already bid but outside the area targeted for the grant project is expected to begin within a week or 10 days, Longo added.

The project includes $250,000 in repair and paving. The first two streets scheduled for the work are Nicolson Avenue and Waveland Avenue.

The cost of project is to be paid from city funds budgeted for that purpose.

The funds will also be used as "in kind" matching money for the block grant.

Eaton also reported on a survey of the city's entire sewer system, which was smoke-tested for leaks.

According to Eaton's reports, most of the leaks are located at manholes and can be solved through installation of guards that will prevent rainwater from draining into the system and increasing the volume of flow through the Waveland wastewater treatment plant.

The engineer said that installation of the guards and other repairs will cost about $80,000 and will cut the amount of flow through the plant by about 1 million gallons on high discharge.

Supervisors to request help with Beach Road repairs

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is still trying to decide how to keep Beach Road safe from future hurricanes.

The board plans to look into funding from both the Federal Emergency Management Agency and the Federal Transportation Department for repair of damage from Hurricane Juan.

A Wednesday afternoon meeting with highway department officials has been scheduled for discussion and possible inspection of the damage.

State Highway Commissioner Bob Joiner said in a telephone interview from Hattiesburg Wednesday that no state funding for the road is available, but his office will act in an advisory capacity to assist the county in obtaining federal funding.

He also said he plans to look into a board request for parking bays on Hwy. 603, which would better enable Shoreline Park residents to put their vehicles on high ground during storms.

The board acted on the request Monday but Joiner said he had received no communication about the matter Wednesday afternoon.

The supervisors said Monday they believe that federal funding may only be available for repair of the existing Beach Road, not replacement, and the county is still faced with the problem of permanently maintaining the road.

According to County Engineer Larry Seal, some Federal-Urban Road System funding may be available for Beach Road from Washington Street to the north end of the seawall.

The other side of the road, which extends from Washington Street to Bayou Cadet, is not on the system and any federal assistance for its repair will have to be obtained through FEMA.

In addition to damage to the road itself, the storm apparently caused some of the adjacent protective curbing to fall in, Seal said, and the project is much more extensive than simple road repair.

"The trouble with this situation is that the salt water is washing the underlying soil out and the damage is not apparent until some part of the wall falls in," the engineer explained.

"There has to be some type of system devised to prevent the loss of REPAIRS—Page 2A

Mormon's Kimball dies at 90

Mormon Church President Spencer W. Kimball, whose 12-year ministry encompassed some of the most dramatic changes in the faith's 155-year history, has died in Salt Lake City at the age of 90.

Kimball, the church's "prophet, seer and revelator" since 1973 and one of its most energetic leaders until the infirmities of age sharply curtailed his activities, died at 10:08

President Spencer W. Kimball, p.m. Tuesday in his downtown hotel apartment, said church spokesman Don LeFevre.

Kimball's wife, Camilla, and a nurse were with him at the Westin Hotel Utah, said LeFevre, who could provide no other details.

Presidents of the largest and wealthiest church founded in America—from founder Joseph Smith to Kimball—have served for life and are the product of an apostolic succession within the Council of the Twelve Apostles.

President Ezra Taft Benson Of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles

Within days, that body's president and most senior member, former U.S. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, 86, is expected to succeed Kimball after a pro-forma vote of the Twelve in the Salt Lake Temple.

Kimball, the 12th president of the 5.8 million-member Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, had been weak since 1981 after his third operation in two years to drain blood and fluid from between his skull and brain.

He also had undergone throat and open-heart surgery and installation of a pacemaker.

Kimball's death came a month after his final public appearance Oct. 6 at the church's semi-annual general conference.

Kimball was "a great leader with the common touch," said Utah Gov. Norm Bangerter.

According to Bishop Herry Bell of Waveland, Kimball's passing will be mourned by the local membership, but it will have no effect on the organization of the church at the local level.

"Because of the design of the church programs from the greatest to the least, everything will continue as before," Bell added.

Bay Detective David Murtagh said the incident was still investigation.

Murtagh also reported that an adult and four juveniles had been charged with burglary.

Kenneth Granillo, 19, of Lagen Street, Shoreline Park and four Hancock County youth ages 18 and 17 were arrested Thursday, Oct. 31 in connection with the burglary of the Marshall Gottsegen residence on South Beach Boulevard.

The suspects allegedly took a stereo, television, .25 caliber pistol and assorted wines and liquors from the Gottsegen residence.

that subsoil or we will have this situation forever," Seal added.

Seal said he is considering the possibilities of using a metal sheet piling system backed with a cemented fill to protect the subsoil.

He said a few of the collapsed areas resulted from the deterioration of metal drains under the road and seawall. These drains would have to be reconstructed during a major repair project.

Seal said he plans to inspect the road with FEMA and Highway Department officials and prepare cost estimates and specifications on permanent repairs after damage estimates are completed.

Also on Monday, the board: —Approved advertising for bids on the construction of the new county jail;

—Set a 10 a.m. meeting with Senator Gene Taylor and officials of the State Bureau of Pollution Control and State Board of Health on possible permitting of individual onsite wastewater disposal systems;

—Approved advertisement for bids for the first phase of construction on a proposed marina at Pearlington;

—Hired Daney Jackson as the County Extension Service's new 4-H Youth Agent;

—Set its annual State Aid Road Program maintenance inspection for Dec. 12; and —Approved a request from the Hancock County School Board for permission to borrow $272,350 for the purchase of 10 buses.

The board's next regular meeting is 9 a.m. Nov. 14.

mand days. Longo said the city can begin the work as funds become available, but added that Waveland has begun the application process for a 75 percent funding grant.

In addition, Eaton scheduled a Wednesday meeting on drainage problems with Aldermen Louis Smolensky and Herman Yarbrough. Smolensky said the three plan to discuss Spanish Cove, Spanish Acres, Old Spanish Trail, St. Joseph Street, McLaurin Street, Gulfside Drive and adjacent areas where drainage improvements may be needed.

Also on Tuesday, the board: —Heard a report from Board Attorney Lucien Gex on progress on the city's redistricting plan;

—Approved appointment of a planning committee for the city centennial celebration in March, 1988; and —Authorized Longo to contact the State Highway Department concerning delays in obtaining a traffic light for McLaurin Street.

Lucases prepare to serve pre-Thanksgiving meal

Thanksgiving dinners are traditionally family affairs, as everyone knows. The family may be a large one, with many helping hands as the day approaches; but someone with a gift for organization has to be in charge, pulling the right strings from the very beginning.

Hats off, then to Fran Lucas and her five daughters, who are planning to serve at least 500 area residents at their church family's pre-Thanksgiving harvest dinner in Virginia Hall on Nov. 14.

The women of Christ Episcopal Church began offering this annual feast 37 years ago, when 250 people of all denominations enjoyed holiday specialties at the home of Charles and Mary Breath.

The dinner this year will again provide a delectable variety of Thanksgiving fare prepared by some of the best cooks in the area.

Included on the menu will be vast quantities of roast turkey with savory dressing and gravy, sliced ham, homemade cranberry relish (Effie McCulloch's, of course), sweet potatoes, green bean casserole, spinach Florentine, potatoes au gratin, baked cabbage, cole slaw, three-bean salad, and rolls, to be topped off by an assortment of Thanksgiving desserts and drinks.

Styrofoam take-out containers will be supplied for those unable to stay at Virginia Hall for the feast and general conviviality or for those provident housewives who think ahead to Thanksgiving Day and plan to pop these culinary delights into home freezers.

The Lucas family - Robert and Fran - came to Waveland from Canada in 1960, and their five daughters have grown up on the coast. Debbie is now Mrs. John Mason, Kim is Mrs. Jeff Debenport, Pat is Mrs. George Mayfield, Tracy is Mrs. Kevin Clay, and Cindy, as her mother says, "is not yet a Mrs."

All the girls are as completely at home in a kitchen as Fran herself, and the dinner being planned will live up to the long-standing reputation for excellence that this annual event has enjoyed from the start.

Profits from the sale of tickets at $5 each will be used by the Episcopal churchwomen's group for many charitable purposes in the work of the church.

Dinners and take-outs will be served on Thursday, Nov. 14, from 5 to 8 p.m. at Virginia Hall on the church grounds, and tickets may be obtained from Episcopal women or from Ellen Kane Gifts in Bay St. Louis or Mollere Realty and Golden Parrot in Waveland.

SERVING A THANKSGIVING feast for area residents will be six members of the Robert Lucas family of Waveland including, from left, Mrs. Kevin (Tracy) Clay, Mrs. George (Pat) Mayfield, Mrs. John (Debbie) Mason, Mrs. Jeff (Kim) Debenport, Cindy Lucas and

Mrs. Robert (Fran) Lucas. The annual pre-Thanksgiving offered by the women of Christ Episcopal Church will be Thursday, Nov. 14 from 5-8 p.m. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

MC GUIRE
CAIRE

As sure a sign of fall as the leaves of autumn and the tang in the air is the soup pot a-simmering on the kitchen stove, don't you think?

As I write this, my kitchen - and house - are wonderfully redolent with the heady aroma of a beef brisket and its seasonings slowly coming to its perfect end - or rather, the beginning of what I consider a perfect meal for fall and winter, or for that matter, any other time of the year.

First, I serve the hearty bouillon from the pot, then I serve the brisket, slicing it thickly, serving it along with an authoritative, thick horseradish sauce, or simply with horseradish, if I'm in a lazy mood or want the extra tang of the horseradish itself.

Sometimes I add extra whole onions or carrots to the simmering pot, and serve these along with the slices of beef - and sometimes I don't - depends upon my mood and the amount of vegetables on hand.

And, quite often, I stir up a vegetable soup from some of the broth or bouillon, some of the meat, and a goodly assortment of vegetables - tomatoes, potatoes, onions, carrots and so on.

And at other times, I make a hearty onion soup, browning sliced onions, and adding them to the beef stock. Served in individual bowls, topped with cheese and run under the broiler to brown the cheese, this is delicious. So, you see, a piece of beef and a bit of work on your part, and you have various meals - and there's always hash when there's not much left!

"Beef bouilli" - boiled beef - is the name given to this dish by cooks in the countryside of France, whence it came - but that's a misnomer, really, for the beef must never, never, ever be boiled, just simmered slowly for a few hours or so, lest it turn out tough and stringy.

In many cities and countries of Europe, boiled beef is considered a delicacy, especially in Vienna, as famous for its boiled beef as for its famed pastries and tortes.

A variety of cuts may be used for boiled beef, the brisket, short ribs, bottom round or rump, with a four or five pound piece ample for six servings, with some left over.

I prefer the brisket, and often serve it "country French or Cajun style" with whole carrots and onions - and sometimes, even potatoes, which I have added to the pot during the last hour of cooking time.

Here's:

BEEF BOULLI
(Boiled Beef)
4 lbs. beef brisket or rump, etc.
3 cups boiling water, approximately

Fresh ground or coarse pepper, salt as desired -
1 or 2 bay leaves

Several sprigs parsley and celery leaves

1 onion, sliced
Couple of pepper pods or dash of Tabasco, optional
1 carrot, sliced

Wipe the brisket with a damp cloth, and dredge with flour. Brown in bacon drippings or oil. Place in a large pot along with seasonings and cover with the boiling water - you see, by using hot water rather than cold, the juices are retained in the meat, and for the same reason, never, never pierce the meat with a fork to see how it's coming along.

Cover the pot, bring to a boil, lower the fire and simmer for approximately three hours, pinch a bit off and taste as needed. If you want to serve the brisket cold, just let it cool in the broth. Then put it on a platter, weight it down with another plate, so as to press the meat into form so that it will slice more nicely.

And, following my Grandmother Daly's notes on beef bouilli, "to be eaten with horseradish" - have on hand a horseradish sauce of some sort or another, whether you're serving this hot or cold.

Sometimes I just stir a forth cup of prepared horseradish into a cup of sour cream or whipped cream. At other times, I add a tablespoon or so of the horseradish and one of lemon juice to a cup of cream sauce. And often I just slather on the horseradish "as is" - either the prepared horseradish or the chopped root or whatever it is!

Quotables by CUEVAS

It appears that football weather waited for the last game of the season in Bay St. Louis.

The chill in the air should add to the excitement on Friday night at Tiger Stadium when the Bay High Tigers play host to the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws.

The Tigers should be hungry for a victory after receiving their first setback of the season at the hands of Hancock North Central's Hawks.

The Rock-A-Chaws with three victories in a row are hoping to add another.

It should be a good game and the stands should be filled with Tiger and Rock-A-Chaw fans.

Bay High is 7-1 for the season and the Rocks are 5-3.

Bay High won the Deep South Conference championship in their fifth game of the season and will journey to District play after their encounter with St. Stanislaus.

The Hawks of Hancock North Central who shocked the Bay High Tigers last Friday will need another super effort when they journey to d'Iberville Friday night.

Hancock 6-2 for the season played at a peak performance on both offense and defense in defeating the Tigers and looked like the Hawks of a few years ago.

D'Iberville is 7-1 for the season and always has a good team, yet Hancock can, as we said, with a super effort bring another victory back to Hancock County.

The Pirates of Pass Christian tried to rally against St. Stanislaus last Friday, losing by three points.

This week they play arch rival Long Beach in Bearcat stadium.

When the Pirates and Bearcats play it can be a victory for either team, no matter their previous records.

We hope there will be good fan support this week at all local high school games.

Remember, kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Tonight is the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club's annual fund raising dinner to be held at Christ Episcopal's Virginia Hall, Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

The dinner which will include fried chicken, ham, potato salad, green beans, roll, cake and refreshment will be served from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

Tickets will be available at the door for a donation of $5 each.

Proceeds will be used by the Bay Rotary Club for community projects during the year.

We hope to see you at the Rotary Dinner tonight.

In light of recent complaints about minor traffic offenders being handcuffed by local police, we noted with interest a story in Wednesday's Times Picayune reporting a Tangipahoa Parish deputy sheriff was killed by a suspect in a minor theft incident.

The suspect was placed in the deputy's vehicle with a screen separating the front and rear seat sections, according to the story, but he was not handcuffed.

He managed somehow to get the officer's shotgun and ended up killing the deputy with his own gun.

A special sixth performance of 'Lie, Cheat, and Genuflect' has been scheduled for Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre.

Last Saturday, patrons had to be turned away because of a packed house at the originally-scheduled final performance, according to Randolph Bourgeois, producer.

He said the theatre has been sold out for all performances except the opening night of Oct. 24.

Proceeds benefit the Krewe of Triton and the theatre.

Tickets are available at Seymour's Gifts and Jewelry in Bay St. Louis or Pauline's Sportswear, Chocktaw Plaza, Waveland. Also, reservations can be made by calling Theresa or Randolph Bourgeois at 467-7792.

We wish luck to the eight Bay Area Youth Soccer teams scheduled to participate in the 1985 Mississippi Youth Soccer Association's Fall Festival in Pearl, Miss. on Saturday.

This is a big soccer event with over 80 teams from throughout the state registered in age groups from Under-8 to Under-16.

Soccer is on the move in the Bay-Waveland area with more and more boys and girls participating each year.

Our area will be well represented in the Fall Festival.

Former Marines are welcomed to a special party on Sunday afternoon at The Good Life lounge, 115 S. Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis, according to Ernest Beckemeyer.

The party is scheduled from 4 to 8 p.m. with a donation of $5 per person.

Proceeds are to go to Mississippi Veterans Memorial Fund for the establishment of a memorial in Bay St. Louis, Beckemeyer said.

We know there are many former Marines living in the area, and thought we would mention this in case some may be interested.

Football coverage unfair to HNC

Nov. 4, 1985

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

I am writing in response to your coverage, or should I say lack of coverage, of the Hancock North Central vs. Bay High game. Why not give credit where credit is due!

In the first place, everyone who reads the Echo and lives in Hancock County knows the county championship is determined by the team who is victorious among HNC, SSC and Bay. There is nothing unofficial concerning the Hawks being the county champs, having defeated SSC 32-7 and Bay High 20-6. The scores seem quite official to me.

Most of your article related to comments from Coach Cleveland Williams as to how well his players did. I am not trying to discredit the Bay High players, for they displayed great effort and sportsmanship.

Had you printed statistics, the figures would have indicated that the Hawks dominated the game and should have received more credit as to their abilities and great team efforts.

HNC had 134 rushing yards and 116 passing, compared to the Bay with 81 rushing and 56 passing.

HNC completed four of seven with no interceptions and Bay completed four of 19 with one interception.

Once again, I do not intend to discredit anyone, but SSC received a whole page coverage and three pictures. They deserved it. It was a big homecoming win!

The Hawks defeated a previously undefeated, 11th ranked in the state team and received the top quarter of a page with two small pictures.

Be fair! I am tired of reading only negative articles about the Hancock County School System. We also have good qualities!

I'm sure, had Ms. Heathcock covered the game, we would have received the credit we were due.

Oh, by the way, your second to last sentence made no sense at all. Favre did not attempt a pass on the Bay High two-point conversion try—he plays for Hancock.

Respectfully yours,
Bonita Favre
Hancock County

Eyes on Mississippi

by Bill Minor

JACKSON—The Legislature, say state fiscal authorities, has run out of tricks, handaids, smoke and mirrors for financing the state budget.

Consequently, the forecast of the state's best budgeteers is that the fiscal crunch come 1986 is going to be meaner than it has been the last four years, if such a thing is possible.

Since the recession began in 1981, the state has been floundering in a budgetary morass from which it has never been able to extricate itself, even after the nation is supposed to be in its 34th month of recovery.

Some $170 million in tax increases have been put on by the Legislature since 1982, almost all of it in the name of funding public education. But instead of going to education, the greatest part of the increases has gone to fund the rest of state governmental obligations.

Several times, lawmakers have fiddled with the method of collecting certain taxes, especially the income tax, that has created several "windfalls" of revenues to get the state over some particular financial hump.

But then, the Legislature has made the mistake of forgetting that the windfall was a one-shot bonanza of revenues that would not carry forward in the tax structure the following year.

Then there was the "February miracle" that has happened almost every year for the last five when revenue estimates made in December were suddenly hiked in February after some unexpected cache of money was discovered.

The "miracle," however, turned out to be a bad dream three of the past four years when cuts had to be made in agency appropriations at mid-year because the additional money failed to materialize.

This time, as Gov. Bill Allain and his Fiscal Management Board, as well as the Legislative Budget Office, prepare their budget recommendations for the 1986 session, there seems to be more realism about the state's dreary fiscal outlook than there has been in the past.

Nobody believes there will be another windfall, nor will there be a "February miracle," and no longer can the Legislature fund other governmental programs out of the taxes raised for education.

It's now ante up time for kindergartens, centerpiece of the Education Reform Act for which taxes were raised in December, 1982. Lawmakers know they must take $40 million out of the state treasury for kindergartens next year regardless of what other demands there are on the general fund.

Then another $25 million must be coughed up by the lawmakers in 1986 to cover the $1,000 second-phase teacher pay raise they authorized in the 1985 session.

There are another $35 million built-in commitments the lawmakers have made which also come due in 1986. This means a total of $100 million "up-front" additional obligations facing the next legislative session.

For almost two decades, the Legislature relied on the state sales tax to bail them out with additional revenue. These were times when the inflation factor and an expanding state economy provided growth of 10 to 13 percent in revenues each year.

That trend came to a screeching halt in 1980 when inflation began to shrink and economic growth in Mississippi slowed to a trickle. Now, five years later, after losing 30,000 to 40,000 industrial jobs and experiencing the loss of millions of dollars of federal assistance during the Reagan years, Mississippi's economy has remained stagnant, and so have state revenues.

The other day in a mini-summit of state fiscal leaders, the forecast was made that the state can expect no more than two percent growth in revenue in fiscal 1987, and two percent in 1988, with a recession in sight for fiscal 1989.

A two percent growth in revenues is considered no-growth, in fact a minus growth because it is less than the inflation rate.

In short, this means the state's economy is going nowhere, while the needs of state government and the catchup needs in education, health and human services are increasing.

The immediate prospect for the next state budget, barring any increase in taxes, is for wholesale cuts in vital state programs, cuts that many lawmakers can't stomach, realizing that so many state services now are quite inadequate.

Some entire state programs which are not vital will have to be dropped, it is becoming more obvious. But which programs? Every program has a key friend or patron in the Legislature, or it would not have been created in the first place.

Even then, no practiced observer of legislative matters could have any optimism that lawmakers will cut down governmental services to the size of state revenues based on the existing tax structure.

Nobody wants to talk about raising taxes again, neither the governor, nor the Legislature.

But one would have to be living in a dream world to believe the 1986 Legislature won't have to come up with additional taxes.

House approves changes in VA health care eligibility rules

The House has approved an omnibus budget cost savings package that contains reforms in veterans' health care eligibility proposed by the Committee on Veterans' Affairs.

"The House made a powerful promise to service-connected and needy veterans today, and they should feel secure in knowing that if they need health care from the VA, they are entitled to it, and they will get it," said Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery (D-MS), chairman of the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs.

The reforms were developed by Montgomery and Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt (R-Ark.), the committee's ranking minority member, who termed the House action "historic."

Among the reforms, targeted toward achieving $1.15 billion in savings in the Veterans Administration budget over the next three years as mandated by the Congress, is a change in the law which currently states that health care for all veterans is discretionary.

Under the House-approved measure, the VA would be required to provide inpatient and outpatient health care to the following categories of veterans: service-connected veterans; former prisoners of war; veterans exposed to certain herbicides and ionizing radiation; World War I veterans; veterans drawing pension from the VA; and any veteran with one dependent whose income does not exceed $25,000 (or $19,000 for a single veteran).

A non-service-connected veteran with income above these levels, regardless of age, could receive care on two conditions: (1) when space and resources are available and (2) provided the veteran agrees to pay the initial deductible he or she would have been required to pay under Medicare (estimated to be $492 for inpatient care in fiscal year 1986).

Unlike the Medicare program, however, the veteran would not be required to make this payment more than once in a 12-month period nor would he be required to pay any additional charges.

The health care eligibility reforms come with a three-year sunset provision and would expire on September 30, 1988, unless the Congress approved an extension.

"Many veterans are surprised to learn that the VA today has no firm obligation under the law to give medical care to any veteran," said Hammerschmidt, adding that VA resources become inadequate.

"care could actually be denied to a service-connected veteran."

Montgomery said that he had received letters of support for the reforms from 12 major veterans' and military service organizations.

One of the letters refers to the Montgomery-Hammerschmidt proposal as "a realistic and compassionate alternative" to the Administration's plans to impose a stringent means test which would bar many veterans from receiving VA health care.

The House also accepted a proposal that would authorize third-party reimbursement for health care which, according to Montgomery, would provide the major portion of the mandated savings.

The measure would allow the Veterans Administration to recover from health insurers the reasonable costs of care furnished in VA facilities to insured veterans who have non-service-connected disabilities.

Most health insurance plans and contracts now contain exclusionary clauses which bar reimbursement to the government for health care provided in Federal facilities.

"We achieved our savings without cutting or harming current programs," said Montgomery. "At the same time, we reaffirmed and strengthened the VA health care delivery commitment."

The House also approved a 3.7 percent cost-of-living adjustment, as reported by the Veterans' Affairs Committee, for veterans receiving compensation for service-related disabilities and for eligible survivors and dependents receiving dependency and indemnity compensation benefits. The increase would become effective Dec. 1.

New Orleans television stations, NBC to present specials on Nicaraguan aid

In a quiet, but persistent, way, New Orleans has become the center-point for the American connection to the war between the Sandinistas and the Contra rebels in Nicaragua.

Here, $27 million in American non-lethal aid is funneled from supply dealers throughout the U.S. to the 18,000 men and women of the Nicaraguan Democratic Force (FDN), the largest of four Contra groups fighting the Sandinistas in the jungle.

For the first time, a television crew was permitted to accompany the U.S.-backed shipment from New Orleans to Honduras, where medical and military supplies are distributed to the FDN. WYES' Richard Anderson and photographer Cliff Roland spent 10 days in Honduras last month, along with WDSU videographer Tom Hohan, to trace the first shipment paid for with money approved by the U.S. Congress earlier this year.

Anderson will examine the New Orleans-Contra relationship in "The Anderson File: The Contra Connection," airing Sunday, Nov. 10, at 7 p.m. on WYES-TV/12. In addition, WDSU, under an agreement with WYES, will present a three-part report on the Contra Connection during its 10 p.m. newscasts on Nov. 6, 7, and 8. Portions of Anderson's report also will appear on NBC's "Today Show" during the week of Nov. 11.

Anderson and the crew spent 10 days in Honduras, seven of those in the jungle, to talk with FDN leaders and soldiers. Anderson also visited Dallas, where conservative Texans are providing thousands of dollars to support the Contra forces by purchasing supplies and paying for covert plane trips to deliver those supplies.

Key to the shipment of supplies from the U.S. to the Contras is Mario Colero, a Kenner resident who is the brother of Adolfo Colero, the president of the FDN.

Mario Colero is the purchasing agent for the FDN; he coordinates the purchasing of all supplies throughout the U.S. and arranges for their transport to a small Contra command base about five miles from the Nicaraguan border in Honduras.

Code-named "Camp Las Vegas," this base serves as a training ground for Contra forces.

Anderson also spoke with Col. Enrique Bermudez, the leader of the Contra army. Anderson described Bermudez as the one man Sandinista leader Daniel Ortega fears most.

The supply shipments to the Contras include just about everything but arms. The Congress only would approve aid for humanitarian supplies to the Contras, which arrives in the form of boots, MASH hospitals, clothing, medical supplies, and portable generators. Once the supplies arrive in New Orleans, they are covertly flown into the Honduran jungles for distribution to the Contras.

From 1981 until mid-1984, the CIA supplied arms and other materials to the Contra forces. Until the U.S. aid was reinstated this year, supply shipments had been paid for by private individuals in the U.S. sympathetic to the Contra cause.

Now, the U.S. is again paying for the 1960's-era cargo planes that take the supplies from New Orleans into the jungle.

Anderson also traveled to Washington, D.C. to talk with Congressman George Miller (D-Cal.), who is opposed to any aid to the Contras. Also interviewed was Gen. John Singlaub, president of the World Anti-Communist League and a former commander of U.S. forces in South Korea until fired by President Carter.

To get the story, the crew waded through muddy roads, often impassable except by mules, and spent a week in the thick Honduran jungle sleeping in tents and MASH units. They returned to New Orleans with the first footage of American-backed supplies reaching the Contra forces.

"The Anderson File" will be followed on Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m. by a rebroadcast of "The Anderson File: The Louisiana Connection," in which Richard Anderson meets several state residents who are providing relief to Nicaraguan refugees in Honduras. Both programs are 30 minutes.

OLD FORGOTTEN ACCIDENT

Research shows that most sufferers of backache are victims of conditions often resulting from some old forgotten injury. Strain on the skeletal or muscular systems of the spine can allow the vertebrae to slip into abnormal positions, "pinching" or irritating nerves, thus impairing their function and causing pain. Left untreated, the spinal disc can degenerate and calcify, causing even more interference and pain.

STRAIGHT ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Each year we get a whole new crop of words or new definitions for words that have been around for years.

WHAT IS BYPASS?

An old word with a new meaning for my company and for you as telephone customers is bypass. Megatrends author John Naisbitt identifies bypass as one of the key trends for 1985. He defines it to mean all of the activities big organizations are taking on to cut costs, including setting up in-house travel agencies, installing their own communications networks and even generating their own energy.

To us, bypass is what happens when anyone uses a substitute for the local telephone company's regular or special service.

While communications bypass isn't really new, it's becoming more and more common because of technological developments like fiber optics and microwave transmission. It is a natural outgrowth of competition in the telephone industry.

HOW DOES BYPASS AFFECT YOU?

Long distance companies and big business customers can select from our services and rates to save money or even build their own communications links to completely bypass the telephone company's network. Even if you aren't directly involved, you may eventually be affected.

The rates we charge long distance companies and some big customers include subsidies that are used to help pay the cost of everyone's local service. While we're moving away from subsidies, we're not there yet.

When bypass happens, we lose these subsidies, but the costs of providing local service don't go away. Residence and small business customers will have to pay them.

WHAT IS THE SOLUTION?

We think the best solution is the FCC's customer line charge plan. It transfers part of the local service subsidy from the long distance companies into local service charges for residential and business customers.

If competition is going to benefit all customers — and we think it can — then pricing must be based on competitive principles. The FCC's shift of $1.00 per month away from the long distance subsidy is but a first step in the right direction.

Bypass is just another byproduct of advances in technology and changes in the industry. It's just one more aspect of competition that's putting pressure on the revenue stream that supports our investment in a modern, technologically advanced telephone system in Mississippi.

There were over 200 entries in the poster contest.

Karl said, "I wish to thank the school administrators and teachers for their assistance in making this program a success."

"Sheriff Ronald Peterson feels it is very important for youngsters to understand the importance of safety and crime prevention," Karl added.

The deputy continued, "Parents too are to be thanked for the encouragement of their children to participate, and we hope to make this an annual event."

The poster judging was scheduled last week, but was delayed because of Hurricane Juan.

Hancock schools to obtain temporary classroom modules

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board has agreed to purchase temporary classroom modules to alleviate space problems while repairs are underway at Hancock North Central.

Several Hancock North Central classrooms suffered roof damage during Hurricane Elena and can not be used while repairs are underway.

According to Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph, the three modules will cost about $40,000 each but federal emergency funding will pay about $11,000 on each trailer for the first three months of a lease-purchase plan.

The trailers, which house two classrooms each, can be used for kindergarten classrooms or other purposes when the repairs are completed, Randolph said.

Although the board has approved the purchase, final approval must be given by Federal Emergency Management Agency officials.

In other business, the board approved a resolution requesting enrollment total exceptions from the State Department of Education.

The exceptions are needed because several of the elementary classes at Hancock North Central, Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview currently have more students than permitted under state requirements.

Randolph said the district can use the exceptions to keep the larger classes intact, but if no action to prevent further overcrowding is taken, the district will be placed on a probationary status when accreditation is considered for the 1986-87 school term.

In other business, the board:

—Approved requesting that the State Department of Education allow forgiveness for days missed due to Hurricane Juan;

—Approved several personnel matters;

—Accepted bids for band uniforms for Hancock North Central;

—Appointed Charles B. Murphy Principal Phillip Terrell as kindergarten coordinator for the district in keeping with the requirements of the Education Reform Act of 1982;

—Approved a proposal for lease-purchase of three copying machines; and —Approved a request for expansion of the federally funded Chapter I programs computer-assisted studies division to include 180 more children.

The board meets again at 8 a.m. Nov. 16 to discuss the district's proposed building program.

It's tough to be in control when someone's out of control

"It's gone beyond the normal rebelling. I can't cope with the situation anymore. My child is changing before my eyes."

What looks like "bad" adult behavior may seem to an adolescent the only way to respond to fear and confusion. If the behavior patterns below look familiar, your child may be under severe stress and calling for help.

- Sharp, hostile outbursts • Abrupt changes in mood • Secretive behavior, lying • Isolation from the family, marked withdrawal • Deterioration of school performance • Excessive sensitivity to criticism, defensiveness

It may be easier to wait and hope the problem will go away. But while we're waiting, one in four adolescents experiment with alcohol and drugs. While we struggle to regain control, one in 10 become addicted.

Your adolescent could be showing signs of serious emotional stress or depression. You both may need a fresh perspective. Call the NorthShore Psychiatric Hospital. Talk to an experienced counselor who will recommend the right help. It's confidential. It's your chance to regain control of yourself and someone you love.

Tigers to end season against Rockachaws

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis High School Tigers will try to come back from a loss to finish their 1985 season with a victory over their crosstown rival, the St. Stanislaus Rockachaws.

PASS CHRISTIAN Pirate Winston Ausmer was chosen as Gulfport Optimist Club's outstanding prep football player for all of Harrison County for his performance in the Pass-Stanislaus game Nov. 1. In that game Ausmer rushed for 92 yards, caught four passes for 102 yards, made 10 individual tackles and had one fumble recovery. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

The rivalry with St. Stanislaus is an important game for Bay High and should be a hard-fought contest, according to Tiger Head Coach Cleveland Williams.

"It's going to be an exciting game whenever you have a rival clash like this one," the coach commented.

Williams said much of Bay High's preparations for this week's game have been geared toward ironing out the mistakes that led to the Tigers' first 1985 defeat last week.

County rival Hancock North Central defeated Bay High 20-6.

"Even though losing that game last week is water under the bridge, we must regroup to get ready for the Rockachaws," Williams said.

"SSC has a balanced attack and we will have to be ready for it. We will have to respect their ability to throw the ball as well as run it."

"We had a bad game and that's history, but we know what we must do to prepare for this contest."

"Besides, I know I'm coaching a group of winners," Williams said.

The loss to Hancock has dropped the Tigers' ranking in the Associated Press Sportswriters' Poll from 11 to 12.

St. Stanislaus is not ranked.

Bay High goes into its last regular season game with a total of 174 points gained, an average of about 22 for each of the eight games. The Tigers' Nasty Bunch defense has given up a total of 58 points, or an average of seven per game.

The Tigers have already won the 1985 Deep South Conference title and the 3-A District VIII title.

Bay High's starting line-up for Friday's game is expected to include, on the offensive line, Butch Pierce, center; Trace McRaney and Geja Carter, guard; Craig Breland and Greg Necaise, tackle; Dennis

Dear, split end; and Robert Hargett, tight end.

Offensive backs expected to start will include Matt Fairconnetue, Brian Laneaux, Willie Lewis and Quentin Bell.

Defensive starters are expected to include Lewis, McRaney, Carter, Hargett, Jerry Island, Todd Manion, Breland, Necaise, Dear, Fairconnetue and Jessie Parker.

Dynamite victorious in Slidell twin bill

Bay Area Youth Soccer Gifts-n-Gold Dynamite won two matches Saturday in Slidell.

The first game versus the Slidell Red Hots was a shutout, 5-0, with each goal being scored by a different Dynamite player.

Scorers were Kim Weinstein, Day Hays, Megan Uram, Stephanie Kennedy and Whitney White.

Goalies for the game were Amy Lee, Erin O'Brien, Whitney White, and Day Hays.

The second match against the Slidell Girls Under-12 Select Team also ended with Dynamite on top 4-2.

Kim Weinstein scored two goals, one on a penalty kick.

The other two goals were scored by Amy Lee and Renee LeBourgeois.

Susanna Cameron was the goalie for the entire second match and was dubbed "Mud Bug" due to her appearance after the game.

Playing two games allowed each of the Dynamite players to play a full game, with no rest, in preparation for the MYSA Fall Soccer Festival this coming weekend.

Eight teams from Bay Area Youth Soccer will be participating in Pearl with Dynamite being the only girls team representing the Bay-Waveland area.

Hawks square off for District 4A championship

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Hosting d'Iberville High School Friday night, the Hancock North Central Hawks will face the 7-1 Warriors for the district championship title.

Hawk Head Coach Irvin Favre said in this game he is especially glad to have the home field advantage.

"Anytime you have two good teams playing, any advantage you can get over the opponent can make a difference," Favre said.

Playing for the District 4A Championship, the Warriors will face the Hawks with a record of six losses and two defeats.

The Hawks will be coming into the game "riding high" off a victory over their undefeated county rivals, the Bay St. Louis Tigers.

Favre said Wednesday the Hawks had had a "real good" practice Tuesday and still had a couple of days left before the game.

"There is no question about it, the Hawks will be ready Friday night and they know what they are facing," Favre said.

The Warriors have handed shutout defeats to four opponents this year, offensively scoring 23.5 points per game while holding their opponents to an average of only six points.

In the Hawks eight games they have scored a total of 208 points, scoring more than 30 points in several games and holding four opponents to a single touchdown.

Hancock has averaged 28 points per game and given up an average of 12 points per game.

For this week's game Favre said the Hawk defense basically needs to settle down and read keys as they did in the Bay St. Louis game.

"d'Iberville runs from a misdirection offense with a lot of reverse and misdirection plays," he said.

"They will be going one way and end up with the football going the other way," Favre added.

The Hawks will also be watching out for Warrior Wingback Robert Goff who is the "big play man" with reverses and catching the football, he said.

"Offensively, d'Iberville does not make mistakes, they have a very fine offensive line that really blocks," he said.

They also handle the ball extremely well in the backfield, Favre said.

The Hawks are expecting to face a four-man front from the d'Iberville defense and have prepared for the well-know Warrior reputation of a solid defensive unit.

"When you are up against a team that has only allowed one touchdown per game, you know you are playing a great defense," Favre said.

Offensively the Hawks have a number of things they must do to win the game, he said.

"First we have to eliminate any mistakes, d'Iberville is such a good team that they really capitalize on their opponents' turnovers," Favre said.

D'Iberville scored three times following Vancleave fumbles last week, he said.

With a team like d'Iberville, mistakes can cost the game, he added.

"The Hawks must also do a very, very good job of blocking this week," Favre said.

Since d'Iberville is forcing their opponents to make turnovers, this means that somebody is being left unblocked," he said.

"We must do a better job of blocking on both the running and the passing games," he said.

Favre said the Hawks are working very hard to prepare for the game ahead and hopes that the fan support this week will equal support in the Bay game.

"The crowd last week was tremendous and the team is really thankful for the support of the football program," he said.

The winner of this district championship game will go on to play for the South State title against Top 10 ranked Pearl High School.

That game will be in Jackson in approximately two weeks.

HALF-TIME—Brother Aquin Gauthier, faculty advisor to the cheerleaders of St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis, consoles New Orleans Saints owner Tom Benson as his team trails 7-3 at the half in a recent ekewuifer between the Saints and New York Giants in the Louisiana Superdome.

A detailed black and white line drawing of a turkey, likely a Wild Turkey, standing on a patch of grass. The turkey is facing right, with its head turned slightly towards the viewer. It has a long, slender neck, a small crest, and a large, fan-shaped tail. The drawing is done in a cross-hatched style, giving it a textured appearance. The text "FOOD and DRINKS" is written diagonally across the turkey's body, from the bottom left towards the top right.

Lewis, a defensive back, is credited with eight solo tackles and one assist, five special-team tackles, one fumble recovery and break-up of a pass play in the Hawks' 20-6 upset of previously unbeaten Bay High.

Fullback Caldwell made five unassisted tackles, three assists, one interception, and 'key tackles' in the Rockachaw successful 17-14 outing against the Pass Christian Pirates Friday.

McRaney, Tiger guard, was in on a total of 23 tackles—four solos and 19 assists.

Hancock's Lull, a split end, caught three passes for 81 yards, including two scoring receptions of 48 yards and 15 yards each.

The Rocks' Yarborough is credited with 'an excellent job with key blocks on Stanislaus scoring plays.'

Tiger back Laneaux turned in an outstanding rushing effort against the Hawks, the judges stated.

Kris Geroux returns to Wildcat cage lineup

The Pearl River College Wildcat basketball season opens Tuesday with the Mississippi Junior College Gulf Coast Classic.

The Wildcats, who will try to improve on last year's 11-18 record, will return only two players from last year's team.

Along with a lot of new faces on the court, the 'Cats will also install a new offense that will consist primarily of a running game, and a tough man-to-man defense.

'Cat boss Lawrence Smithmier hopes this new strategy will be the nucleus of a winning season.

Returning from last year's team will be 6-10 Ben Matlock of Bowling Green, Kentucky and Dwayne Hanberry, a 6-8, low post player from Oak Grove. Other sophomores on the team are Neal Murray, a transfer from Middle Tennessee State, and Robert Bridges, a transfer from William Carey College.

Scot Davis from Gulf Breeze, Florida and Steve Bankston, a transfer from the Air Force, will round out the group of upperclassmen for the 'Cats.

Murray, who played point guard at Middle Tennessee, was a participant in the 1985 NCAA basketball tournament. His experience at the point guard position should give the 'Cats the leadership needed at the guard slot.

'Our main objective this season is to win more games this season than last year,' said Smithmier. 'We were in a lot of games last season, but on several occasions we got beat at the buzzer. Offensively we'll score more points this year. I think that defense is where we need to improve the most.'

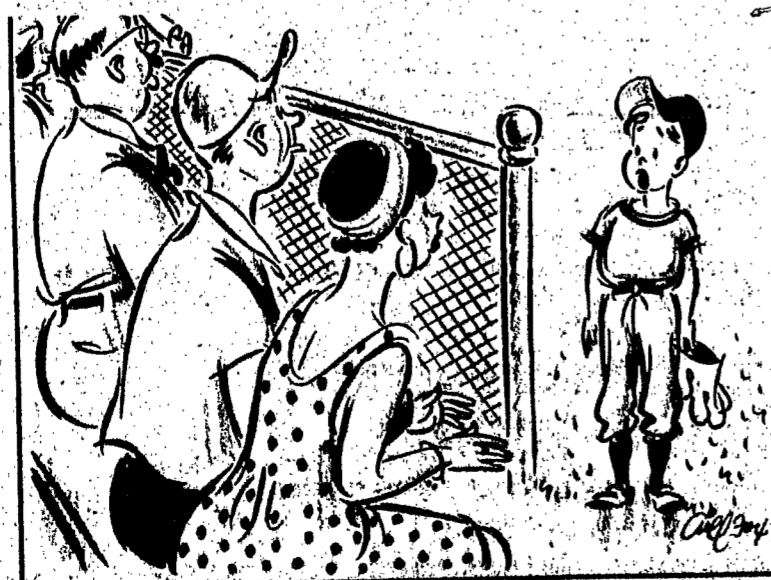

Along with the group of sophomores, Smithmier has also recruited an excellent group of freshmen. Among the local standouts are Patrick Peters of Poplarville, Jerry Ellis of Picayune, John Walker of Prentiss and Robert Jefferson of Pearl River Central.

Rounding out the roster are John Felder of Picayune, Kris Geroux of Bay St. Louis, and John Carter from Marrero, La.

The Wildcats will participate in the Mississippi Delta Tournament, the Pensacola Classic, the Bossier City Tourney, as well as hosting their own PRJC Booster Tourney that will feature teams from Ohio, Florida, Louisiana and Illinois.

UNKNOWN SOLDIER

"The Unknown Soldier," a documentary about the life stories of six American servicemen who died in action during World War II and whose bodies were never recovered or identified will be broadcast at 10 p.m., Monday, Nov. 11, on Mississippi ETV.

Hosted by actor Jason Robards, who is also a decorated World War II Navy veteran, the documentary looks at the history of the Tomb of the Unknowns.

Said creator/executive producer Arnold Shapiro: "Last winter while filming my documentary 'Return to Iwo Jima' at Arlington National Cemetery, I took some time to visit the Tomb of the Unknowns. There were no tourists, just the honor guard and four crypts containing an unidentified serviceman for each of our nation's 20th century wars: World War I, World War II and the Korean and Vietnam conflicts. I stared at the words inscribed on the Tomb: 'Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God.' The image of that soldier in the tomb caused my mind to race with questions. Of course, there is no way to know (the answers). No one will ever know the identity of the unknown soldiers. They symbolize all the men who have lost their lives in combat."

Principals Association chief reports:

Schools, students being asked to do more

Lawmakers last year scurried about passing bills aimed at improvements in the schoolhouse, but whether any of that massive amount of legislation will affect learning will not be decided until America sees what happens this year, according to the chief executive of the nation's largest school administrator organization.

"The Year of the School, as proclaimed by some alert governors last year, could more accurately be called the year of the legislative mandate," reports Scott Thomson, executive director, National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP).

"This fall we find ourselves astride a remodeled school vehicle with all cylinders roaring. New maps have been issued, but will we reach our destination?" he asked.

This year America must focus upon the quality of the individual classroom if improvement is truly to occur, according to Thomson. Teachers and principals must take the initiatives which have the best chance of bringing about greater student achievement.

"Tougher standards don't guarantee better results," Thomson indicated. "High expectations are fine—even commendable, but success cannot be attained by rhetoric or regulation alone. Success requires a peak performance by teachers and students in the classroom."

Thomson called upon educators to look at recent research regarding classroom success as they prepare for the coming school year. He believes that individualized tutoring, learning styles, and learning histories of students will play an important role in improvement.

One-to-one tutoring is one of the best learning conditions which can be devised, according to Thomson.

"The key features here are that students get immediate feedback on their work, that the teachers review the concepts missed, and that all work is corrected before moving to the next step," he said.

"These techniques can be applied in a conventional classroom setting, especially now with the assistance of the newer interactive computer software."

Recent developments on how students learn best, or learning styles, can also play an important role in school improvement, he indicated. New instruments are now being created which outline this research and provide profiles of the ways individual students process information.

"Educators will soon consider such student data essential, as do physicians who always diagnose before offering treatment," predicted Thomson.

Teachers and principals should also investigate what information students bring with them to the classroom, especially since one-half of "a student's achievement in a given grade depends upon the knowledge and skills that student initially brings to class," according to Thomson. That will allow the most appropriate instructional challenges to be offered students.

"Schools are being asked to do more today," he concluded. "We can only succeed, in the long run, by doing a better job. That is why 1986 is the year of the classroom. Otherwise, the year of the school in 1985 will have been an empty slogan for all of us."

Child Care Food operators issue discrimination statement

One state agency, two churches and three Headstart Centers report Child Care Food Programs are being operated at their various locations.

"The food program operators state that no discrimination will be made against any child because of race, color, sex or national origin in the operation of the programs."

All meals served to enrolled children who qualify will be free at sites approved for participation in the program.

Q. I have heard before that alcohol is a drug. Is that true? Most people do not consider it to be one. (M.S. Wiggins)

A. Yes, alcohol is a drug. As a matter of fact, it is the most commonly abused drug in the United States. Alcohol is a mind-altering substance that changes the way a person thinks and acts.

It accounts for 50 percent of America's highway deaths. Alcohol, like any drug, causes harmful effects when abused. Alcohol is usually not considered a drug, but the fact that it is legal and its use is socially accepted.

ETV Brief

WONDERWORKS

David Birney, Jane Lapotaire and Holly Alder star in a two-part "Wonderworks" story about a sensitive young girl, her reclusive aunt and a scientist who come to love one another through their mutual love of nature.

Based on the popular book by Rowena Farrer, "Seal Morning," filmed in England, can be seen at 8 p.m., Monday, Nov. 4 and 11, on Mississippi ETV.

Following the accidental death of her parents, Rowena (Ald), who has lived abroad and attended boarding schools for years, is forced to withdraw from school and move to the west coast of England in a tiny house with her Aunt Miriam (Lapotaire), whom she barely knows. She has difficulty adjusting to her new situation, in which her aunt and her animals have the run of the house.

While taking an orphaned baby seal for a splash in the ocean, Rowena meets Dr. Bernard Lacy (Birney), a Canadian scientist who has come to the area to study seals. He tries to help her adjust to her new life, and a love interest develops.

YOUTH SECTION

Bay students attend classes in mobile computer laboratory

Bay High is currently hosting a unique course in computer literacy and job training.

This course, taught in a mobile computer laboratory, instructs the students in the use and application of computer technology and provides the necessary skills to work with computer programs.

The course has been especially designed to allow the student to learn how to use a computer while improving his knowledge of how to obtain and retain a job.

Writing a computer program, solving math problems, and storing and retrieving programs are concepts developed early. The student then progresses into identifying personal interests, learns why a high school diploma is important to have, and establishes goals for his or her life. Finally, he utilizes a word processor to prepare a real resume that may be used to obtain a part-time or summer job.

Forty students, ninth through 12th grades are currently in the nine-week program. The classes are scheduled to maintain a ratio of no more than 10 students per instructor to insure individual attention to each student's progress.

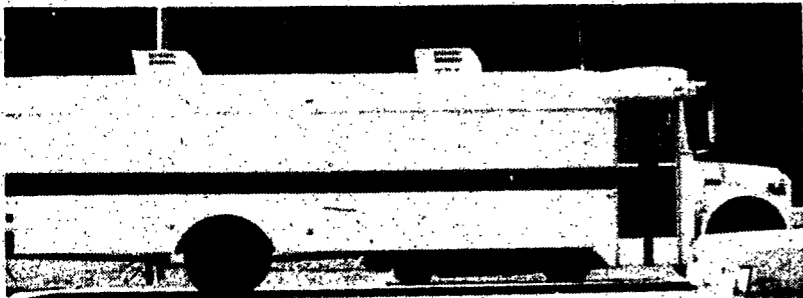

This training is provided by a private company, The Learning Works Inc., at no cost to the Bay St. Louis school district or to participating students. The program is managed by the Gulf Coast Business Services Corporation and paid for with funds from the Jobs Training Partnership Act.

Jerry D. Jones, the instructor for the computer literacy course at Bay High, is a 1965 graduate of Arizona State University with a bachelor of industrial engineering degree. A native of East Texas, Jones completed a career in the U.S. Air Force and retired as a Lt. Colonel at Keesler Air Force Base in November, 1984.

His hobby of working with a home computer, writing and improving programs for personal use, led to the job with The Learning Works Inc., headquartered at Starkville.

The company has operations in north and south Mississippi, Kentucky, and South Carolina, using mobile laboratories (converted school buses) containing 20 computers each to teach computer literacy.

Two courses are available at this time—one nine weeks long and one 18 weeks. The nine-week course at Bay High will finish by the end of November. The mobile classroom will then go to Biloxi High for the rest of this semester and to Harrison Central Ninth Grade School for the spring semester.

Girl scout news

Area V of the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council, which is composed of Hancock and Pearl River Counties, held its semi-annual meeting Oct. 22 at the First United Bank in Picayune. Kathy Holland of Picayune presided.

Alice Holmes, Crystal Burrows, Leslie Dube, Shawn Tusa and Philomena Carr were elected as the delegates and Gayle Egan, Katherine Clark, Vera Mestayer and Barbara Fillingame as the alternate delegates from Hancock County to the annual council meeting in January.

Holmes was elected to a three-year term on the nominating committee and Burrows will serve on a special task force to plan the council celebration of Girl Scouting's 75th birthday in 1987.

Rita Tucel, of the Child Abuse Education Council of Pearl River County, presented information on her organization. Sue Guisse, from the county Welfare Office, discussed state laws relating to child abuse. The meeting concluded with a covered dish luncheon.

DEDICATION CEREMONY

A dedication ceremony was held at Camp Iti Kana in Wiggins to celebrate the opening of the new Program Center.

Those attending from Troop 27 included Shasta Williams, Bahiyah Schwabacker, Jennifer Burrows and leader, Alice Holmes.

Those attending from Troop 98 were Bethany Burrows and Kristen Tusa with leader Crystal Burrows.

INTERTROOP CAMPING

The Bay-Waveland Neighborhood, which consists of 13 troops, is planning an intertroop camping weekend. The activities will be held at the Girl Scout Camp in Wiggins.

The date is set for Nov. 22-24. The theme will be Thanksgiving.

In accordance with this theme, the girls will collect food to donate to the Hancock County Animal Shelter.

DIAMONDHEAD TROOP

Diamondhead Junior Girl Scout Troop 381, which is sponsored by the newly founded Diamondhead Academy, has many projects planned for the upcoming year.

Diane Bennett, troop leader, says that this will be an active and profitable year for the girls.

The troop, with the assistance of the Diamondhead Dinner Theatre Group, is working toward their theatre badge.

It will perform a puppet show at the Children's Christmas Party being held at the Diamondhead Country Club.

The girls are junior gardeners in the Diamondhead Garden Club and will be participating in the Flower Show this December.

New book gives Gulf Park history

Although Gulf Park College for Women no longer exists, love and devotion for the school linger on.

"I can recall walking to St. Thomas Church as a young boy and dreaming as I passed the (Gulf Park) college that someday I would teach there," mused Dr. Louis Elias.

Elias—a Gulf Coast native who has fulfilled his dream of service to the school, now the site of the University of Southern Mississippi—Gulf Park campus—has written a history of the old women's college, encompassing the years 1917-71.

Gulf Park College for Women provided two years of college-level instruction for students who sought mental and social growth. Its student body generally represented about 30 states and several foreign countries, the enrollment limited and selective.

The Gulf Park campus is the site of the popular Friendship Oak, a massive live-oak tree located near Hardy Hall. A platform built into the tree served as an outdoor classroom for recitations and lectures by poet Vachel Lindsay.

An assistant to the dean and assistant professor of educational leadership and research at the University of Southern Mississippi—Gulf Park campus, Elias said his devotion to the Gulf Park College for Women stems from his youth.

"I believed in what the school stood for: grace, culture, charm and tradition. I have always been infatuated with the Gulf Park campus," Elias said.

The college was created in 1921 because of a drive by leading Gulfport citizens to organize a girls' school, according to Elias.

"When I was working on my PhD, I came across the problem of what to write my dissertation on," Elias added. "Someone whom I admire very much, Dr. Robert B. Ellis, gave me the idea of researching the origin of Gulf Park."

He said Dr. Ellis, a professor of higher education at the University of Mississippi, was instrumental in the decision to research the Gulf Park history.

Elias began his two-year dissertation work in 1979, researching board minutes, interviewing Gulf Park personnel and Board of Trustee members, and conversing with Rupert Cooke, a recruiter for Gulf Park College for Women from 1929-66. Cooke was a primary source of information and a great help in the research, Elias said.

Recently, the dissertation material was condensed into a 50-page book, including a number of pictures, for those interested in the origin of Gulf Park.

Gulf Park College for Women, basically a finishing school for upper-class society, maintained enrollment even during the depression era, despite relatively high tuition. But during the 1960s, it failed to adjust to changing social trends, changes in curriculum and faculty, rising inflation and competition with the rapidly growing junior colleges. The college finally saw its last days in 1971.

However, through its 50 years of operation, Gulf Park College for Women provided thousands of girls a scholarly and culturally attained education in all aspects of life, Elias contends.

The book, "A History of Gulf Park, from 1917-71," is published by Dixie Press of Biloxi.

ERRATIC AEROBICS—This rather strange cast of characters invaded the Wednesday night co-ed aerobics class at Lolacano's Health Club in Bay St. Louis last week. Maybe it had something to do with Halloween which was the next day. Close observation reveals that

Giliberti elected

Joseph Giliberti of Bay St. Louis recently was elected president of the University of Southern Mississippi's newest organization, the Anthropological Society.

The purpose of the society is to inform anthropology majors and the general public about the USM Anthropology Department, as well as to stay informed on the field itself.

The faculty advisor of the society is Dr. James Flanagan, a native of Ireland, who has done field work among the Wovon People of New Guinea.

this State University.

Dr. Charles Biggers, professor of biology and recipient of Memphis State's Distinguished Teaching Service Award for 1985, addressed the 800 graduates and their families.

While attending Memphis State, she was a member of Campus Crusade for Christ. She was a 1981 graduate of Our Lady's Academy.

Youth Brief

Socorro Alcala, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eladio Alcala of Waveland, was elected Junior Class vice president for the 1985-86 school year on the Student Council at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md.

Her activities at Hopkins have included Student Council representative during freshman and sophomore years, Russian Club member, Blue Key Society member, and the Education Committee of Student Council.

She is majoring in behavioral biology and minoring in Russian. Ms. Alcala graduated from Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis in 1983.

Taylor graduates

Jeane Hoselle Taylor, daughter of Mrs. A.L. Daigre Jr. of Bay St. Louis received a bachelor of education degree with a concentration in elementary education from Mem-

GULF PARK GIRLS—One of the main goals of the exclusive Gulf Park College for Women in Long Beach was cultural refinement. The two-year finishing school sought to train girls, who often came from all over the world, how to conduct themselves as members of the well-educated, social elite. Being skilled in horsemanship was one part of their education. Behind the three girls on horseback is Hardy Hall, which remains as part of the USM-Gulf Park campus.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals. Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the office in each school.

The information provided on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility, and may be verified at any time during the school year by school or program officials.

For the school officials to determine eligibility, the household must provide the following information listed on the application: names of all household members; social security numbers of all adult household members or a statement that the household member does not possess one; total household income; or food stamp case number; and the signature of an adult household member certifying that the information provided is correct.

Households are required to report increases in household income of over $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases in household size.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals, it should contact the school.

Under provisions of the policy, school principals will review applications and determine eligibility.

If a parent is dissatisfied with the decision of the determining official, he or she may discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis.

If a parent wishes a hearing to make a formal appeal of the decision, he may make a request for such an appeal either in writing or orally to one of the following appropriate hearing officials:

—Terry Randolph, Superintendent of Education, Hancock County Schools, Rt. 3, Box 906-H, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

—LeRoy Lizana, Superintendent, Pass Christian Municipal Separate School District, 701 West North St., Pass Christian, MS 39571, 601-452-7272.

Joseph Gex, President, Bay St. Louis Catholic School Board, 301 S. Second St., Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, 601-5158.

The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure. If during the year a family member becomes unemployed or if the household's size changes, the family should contact the school.

Such changes may make the children of the household eligible for additional benefits, if the household income falls at or below the levels shown.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for purposes of determining eligibility and verifying data.

All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, national origin, age, or handicap. Anyone who feels he or she may have been discriminated against, should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Each school and the administrative offices have a copy of the complete policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

SCRAPBOOK DISPLAY—Comparing girl scout scrapbooks from trips made 23 years apart to the home of girl scout founder Juliette Low are, from left: Mrs. Donald Chamberlain, leader of Mariner 1 troop which made the trip in 1958; Maria Vassalli Strong, member of the 1958 troop and leader of Troop 1 which made a similar trip in 1981; Celeste Proulx, member of the 1958 Mariner trip; and Prima Wusnick, Director of the Hancock County Library System. The scrapbooks will be on exhibit from Oct. 28 to Nov. 31 to commemorate the birthday of Juliette Low.

Girl Scout Scrapbooks on display at library

In celebration of the Oct. 31 birthday of Juliette Low, founder of the girl scouts, the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library will display scrapbooks from trips made by two local scout troops 23 years apart to the Juliette Low home in Savannah, Georgia.

One scrapbook commemorates a trip taken in 1958 by the Marina Troop 1 led by Mrs. Donald (Margaret) Chamberlain. The scrapbook chronicles the ten-day trip made by bus to the site of Low's home and visits to Silver Springs, Daytona Beach, St. Augustine and St. Simon's Island. On the return trip, the Mariner troop spent a night in Homerville, Georgia, where Mrs. Chamberlain had lived for several years.

The second scrapbook details a trip made by Troop 32 in 1981. The troop's leader, Maria Vassalli Strong, was a member of the 1958 tour.

"The trip our Mariner troop took under Mrs. Chamberlain's leadership was so rewarding that I wanted my troop to have a similar experience," says Strong.

The 1981 trip to Low's home included a walking tour of historic downtown Savannah, a boat tour of the river to Fort Jackson, and trips to St. Simon's Island and the Okefenokee Swamp.

Both scrapbooks contain records of money raising projects, costs, itineraries and transportation as well as photographs, publicity and other mementoes.

According to Chamberlain, the scrapbooks of trips taken 23 years apart not only have historical value but contain a mine of information for any girl scout troop making plans for a trip.

The scrapbooks will be on display at the US-90 library from Oct. 28 through Nov. 31.

USM scholars assist with reform act work

Two University of Southern Mississippi scholars this past summer assisted the state Department of Education in developing an overall five-year plan for implementation of the historic 1982 Education Reform Act.

Roger Helmer, a doctoral student in educational administration, and Anne Marie Rosato, who recently completed work on a master's degree in political science, were among six "Superintendent's Scholars" selected from 30 applicants to help the department draft a five-year plan mandated by the Education Reform Act.

"A tremendous amount of research was involved in compiling the five-year (reform act implementation) plan," said Andy Mullins, director of external relations for the state department. The scholar project was "very successful" in assisting the department with its task, he said.

During the three-month project, Helmer worked in the department's school improvement division, while Rosato worked mainly in the budget department. Each of the six scholars was given a $5,000 stipend for their summer work.

Mullins said the five-year plan is progressing on target and will be presented to the Legislature in January. The state Board of Education will consider approval of the plan this month, he said.

This summer was the first year of the "Superintendent's Scholars" project. The project will be continued each summer because the five-year plan must be revised each year, Mullins said.

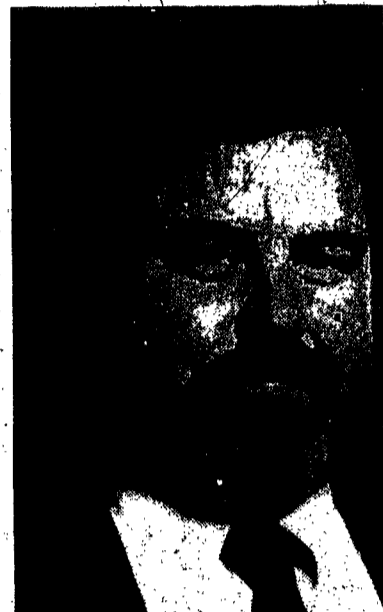

"The six scholars involved in the project got a lot out of it," he added. "We tried to make them knowledgeable about all aspects of the reform act."

The other four scholars included: a doctoral student in economics from Virginia Tech University, who is to begin teaching this fall at Millsaps College; a professor of secondary education at Jackson State University; a doctoral student in educational psychology from Mississippi State University; and a political science instructor at Hinds Junior College who also serves as a member of the Clinton School Board.

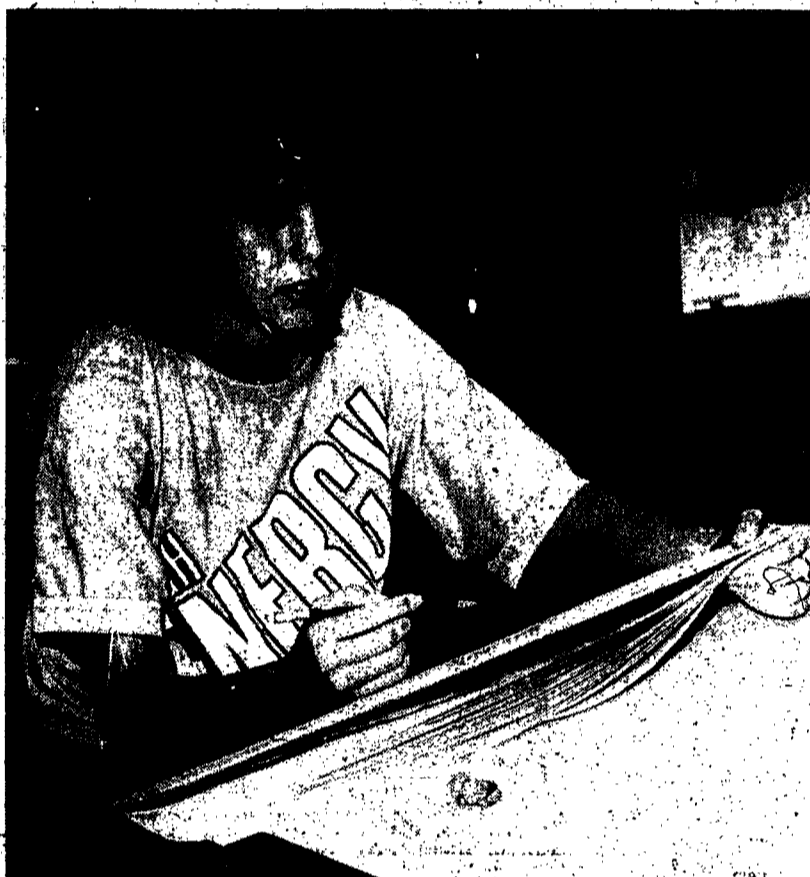

Helmer is a native of Healy, Alaska, and Rosato is a native of Bay St. Louis.

BACK TO THE DRAWING BOARD—Lisa Estapa of Bay St. Louis, a sophomore at the University of Southern Mississippi, is part of an art class that recently spent several mornings sketching a corner of the M.M. Roberts Stadium. The students in Skip Van Houten's drawing class were learning to assess angles correctly as part of a perspective problem. Houten, an assistant professor of art, is a sculptor and teacher of drawing, sculpture and art.

Your Stars Above

BY EVE EWING

ARIES (3-21/4-19) Your feisty nature wins you lots of fans and keeps your pot boiling. But sometimes that bold front is merely hiding the fears lurking underneath. However, those who matter understand and love you.

TAURUS (4-20/5-20) Although you don't seek trouble, when it comes looking for you, you are not afraid to meet it head on. Keep up the good work — your sort should consider politics where those qualities are now lacking.

GEMINI (5-21/6-20) You are always bursting with new ideas, and your charm usually insures a hearing for them. Co-workers are sometimes envious of your mental fertility, but you should have no problems wooing them to your side.

CANCER (6-21/7-22) It's a rare person who can guard the tongue as well as you do. This admirable trait wins you many life-long friends, who appreciate your discretion.

LEO (7-23/8-22) Although you exhibit boundless energy when you are interested, you must fight a tendency toward indolence when the job at hand strikes you as dull. Sometime dull work MUST be done!

VIRGO (8-23/9-22) The gift of knowing the wheat from the chaff is not often given, so make capital of it in your life. This talent will keep you in constant demand professionally and personally.

LIBRA (9-23/10-22) A fear of hurting others sometimes leads you to be indecisive in emotional matters. In the long run, you will harm less by being candid than by putting off personal decisions.

SCORPIO (10-23/11-21) Your energy and dedication to a cause, once you are committed, outweigh your insistence on being the dominant force. But you would be much happier if you could allow others the limelight occasionally.

SAGITTARIUS (11-22/12-21) Whether rich or poor, those under this sign always do everything with elegance and charm. Sagittarians are found among the stars in every field of endeavor.

CAPRICORN (12-22/1-19) Prudence and tact are wed with ambition to insure success for most Capricorns. This happy balance could be undone by too much pride, so watch yourself for best results.

AQUARIUS (1-20/2-18) Tomorrow is always a brighter day for Aquarians, and yesterday is consigned to oblivion with each new dawn. Today only exists as the prelude to new and shining tomorrows.

PISCES (2-19/3-20) The occult and spiritualistic worlds are full of unscrupulous people, so you must resist your fatal attraction to those who indulge in those realms.

SORORITY PLEDGE — Donna Gilmore of Bay St. Louis recently participated in a formal pledging ceremony of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority at the University of Southern Mississippi. Gilmore participated in sorority formal rush, which is traditionally held the week before classes begin. The Eta Zeta chapter of Alpha Delta Pi is the newest sorority on the USM campus, colonizing in September of 1984. Joining USM Greek Life, ADPI had an active first year and recently successfully completed a first formal rush.

LAURI GAGNON received an honorable mention in the "Name the Baby Ridley Sea Turtle Contest." She submitted the name E.T. (Endangered Turtle). Miss Gagnon is a freshman at Our Lady Academy. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gagnon of Bay St. Louis.
